Six hundred and ninety-three children in the New Oxford schools, were inoculated with Salk polio vaccine Friday in a program arranged by Dr. John L. Menges, New Oxford, in cooperation with the schools and Adams County Medical Director Dr. C. G. Crist.

Dr. Crist said today the children were given first, second or third shots. Some of the children had received one or two shots previously, many had never received any of the three inoculations.

It is hoped that similar arrangements can be worked out for all schools in the county.

Plan More Clinics

Dr. Crist said arrangements are being made by Dr. Ira L. Henderson to hold a similar session for the Fairfield jointure schools in the near future, when children of preschool age may be brought to Fairfield to receive their shots at the same time.

It was decided to hold clinics in the schools, Dr. Crist said, after the medical society of the county had hoped that the problem of providing the shots could be met by the clinic held regularly at the Warner Hospital and privately by physicians, Dr. Crist said.

However, experience has shown that the program of fighting polio can more effectively be advanced by holding clinics in the schools to "make sure all who need the shots get them," the county medical examiner said.

PARKE O. DECKER, COLLEGE GRAD, DIES SUDDENLY

Parke O. Decker, 57, of Camp Hill, district engineer of the General State Authority District No. 2 with headquarters in Harrisburg, died Friday in Harrisburg of a heart attack. He had gone to a hospital for medical shots when he was stricken.

Mr. Decker was employed by Starrett Brothers and Ekin, New York City construction company, from 1926 to 1932 and he served as an assistant superintendent of construction on the Empire State Building, the world's tallest office building.

For a period of several years beginning in 1940, Mr. Decker was employed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., in the construction of some 200 buildings in various parts of the country. This was part of a total program of about 700 buildings at plants where smokeless rifle and small cannon powders were produced.

Building Inspector
Prior to his appointment as a general building inspector for the authority in June, 1950, Mr. Decker served as a resident engineer for the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

He was promoted to assistant supervising district engineer by the authority in August, 1950, and was given a second promotion to the sixth, Mrs. Doris Dickinson of June, 1951. He had held that position from that time until his death.

The state's two new office structures, the Labor and Industry and Health and Welfare buildings in Harrisburg, and the combination office building and garage at the city line, were among the major projects completed under Mr. Decker's supervision.

Mr. Decker served as a civil engineer for the U. S. Government on projects in Japan and other Pacific islands, and in Ohio and Oklahoma.

He graduated from Gettysburg College in 1925 and was an outstanding athlete.

Mr. Decker is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louise G. Decker; a son, Parke Van Cleft Decker, and a daughter, Barbara, at home; a position of district engineer in Towaco, N. J., and his stepmother, Mrs. Helen M. Decker of New Castle. Friends may call at the funeral home at 31 Second St. in Highspire from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday. Eisenhowers And Guests At Camp David

President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their guests took it easy today at the President's mountain retreat, Camp David, near Thurmont. The place is named for the Eisenhowers' grandson. This is the first time the President has visited Camp David since December, 1955 during his convalescence from a heart attack. At that time he held a cabinet meeting and later a meeting of the Security Council in Laurel Lodge.

The President's guests are Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, and George E. Allen, one-time Truman administration official who has a farm near the Eisenhower place.

Traveling in a separate car, Mrs. Eisenhower, Mrs. Gruenther and Mrs. Allen arrived at Camp David shortly after the menfolk.

The President and his party intend to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

SOCIAL WORKER IS NEEDED HERE

The Adams County Child Welfare Service is planning to add a social worker to its staff, Robert McMullen, director for the services, said today.

While a trained worker is desired, training other than a college degree is not required. An untrained worker, college degree only, will start at $3,200 with the salary advancing to $3,560 after six months' probation.

McMullen said he hopes to obtain a county resident for the post which includes case work service with children "who may be in foster homes, adoptive homes, institutions or their own homes. The objective of the work is to assure children the opportunity for as normal physical, emotional and social growth and development as possible."

The worker would "locate, study and supervise foster and adoptive homes, determine whether homes are suitable and give counsel and guidance to foster and adoptive parents on the care of children and provide service directly to children concerning their physical, emotional and social problems, aid children in adjusting to their own or foster homes and arrange for physical, psychological and psychiatric services as needed."

AAA CONDUCTS EIGHT-DAY TOUR TO MARDI GRAS

Members of the Gettysburg Motor Club, affiliated with the American Automobile Association, have been invited to join the 8-day AAA tour to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, George Miller, manager of the local club, said today.

The Mardi Gras carnival days are March 3, 4, 5 which will be simultaneously celebrated in many lands. They call it Carnival in Rio de Janeiro, a combination of the two words, carne and valu, "a farewell to meat." In England, where the only survival of the holiday is the practice of eating pancakes on Shrove Tuesday, the holiday is appropriately called Pancake Tuesday; the Germans celebrate Fastentag, which, roughly translated, means "Fasting Tuesday"; but it is the French name, Mardi Gras, or "Fat Tuesday," that is used in New Orleans, and still remains one of the most fabulous celebrations in the United States.

Arrange Side Trips
Louisiana has a long tradition of Mardi Gras. Celebrations are recorded as early as 1702 at Ft. Louis de la Louisiane, the site of Mobile, Alabama, and similar festivities were held in New Orleans through the periods of Spanish and French control, and after Louisiana had attained statehood. The festivities became organized in 1857, when the "Mystic Krewe of Comus" was formed and staged the first spectacular parade with floats in New Orleans.

Having evolved from a local tradition, Mardi Gras is today the equivalent of a major holiday in the U.S. AAA members are invited to make reservations with the local club for the 8-day AAA tour that will not only participate in the celebration, but will also tour New Orleans, make a cruise along the Mississippi River aboard the giant river steamer, S.S. President, and visit many delightful spots along the Gulf Coast.

Further information is available at the Gettysburg Motor Club.

3 Youths Escape Serious Injuries

National Park Service officials reported today that three county youths escaped serious injury about 11 o'clock Wednesday night when their car ran off Granite Lane, near Crouse's on the Littlestown Rd., hit a tree and mounted a three-foot stone wall throwing rocks for 20 feet before coming to a stop 10 feet from where it partially hurdled the barrier.

Park officers said William G. Bream, 21, 145 Seminary Ave., was the driver of the 1955 model convertible which was badly damaged in the series of crashes. Bream told investigators three deer crossed his path and he slowed his machine, going into second gear just before he hit ice and then the tree. He said the car seemed to gather speed after it left the road.

Bream escaped with a slight cut on the right leg, John Geyer, 18, Cashtown, suffered brush burns, and Fred Bream, 20, Orrianna R. 1, the other occupant, was unhurt. Both sides of the car were damaged and the undercarriage was badly smashed by the wall.

YOUNGSTERS OF COUNTY CALLED "WELL BEHAVED"

A panel discussion on "What Might Cause a Child's Getting Into Trouble with the Law" Friday night at the VFW revealed that Adams County generally has only "a very slight problem in comparison with some other parts of the nation," and that "the problem is not so much that of the youngster but of society generally."

John J. Maljan, parole agent from the Pennsylvania Board of Parole, Harrisburg, a member of the panel sponsored jointly by the Adams County Council of Community Services and the Harrisburg Area Council of the Pennsylvania Association on Probation, Parole and Correction, told the group: "I don't know what it is you have down here, but we don't get the number of people proportionally from Adams County that we get from other counties. We get the adults for parole and when we study his history we find generally that the person we are dealing with is the end result of something that started down when they were youngsters. Adams County youngsters must be pretty good because we don't get the adults for parole with the records of juvenile difficulties."

No Serious Problem
County Probation Officer D. M. Anderson, also a member of the panel, said, "As of now we do not have a great juvenile problem in the county. We have youngsters who get into trouble, but very few that get into serious trouble. Nobody knows what tomorrow will bring, but we have pretty good youngsters in the county. In the four years I've been connected with probation

COURT PONDER'S HUBBY'S RIGHTS TO HIS SAVINGS

Should an elderly man, who is incapable of work according to medical examination, be forced to share his $14,000 bank account with his working wife was a question attorneys were asked to answer Friday afternoon by the Adams county court.

Chester J. Baugher, Chambersburg, formerly of upper Adams county, was before the court on a desertion and non-support charge brought by his wife. Medical testimony showed that Mr. Baugher can no longer work. Other testimony showed he had $14,000 in a bank account, and income of $650 per year from interest, a small pension, etc. Mrs. Baugher had received $4,000 when she and her husband sold their home in the upper part of the county for $8,000. She is employed.

Attorneys for the two were asked to submit briefs on their positions in the case within ten days after which the court will make a decision on the support order.

Wife Gets $75 A Week

Cameron J. Wickline, Biglerville, told the court he was perfectly willing to turn over his paycheck to his wife and let her pay all the bills. Mrs. Wickline had brought a non-support charge against her husband alleging the family was in debt and that she did not receive enough to provide sufficient food and clothing for the eight of their nine children who are under 18. Wickline told the court his salary had recently been advanced from $70 to $90 a week since he has been named manager of the Varsity Diner. The court decision awarded Mrs. Wickline $75 a week from which she is to pay all expenses of running the household, pay all bills, etc. Wickline was granted $15 per week to take care of his needs for transportation to and from work.

GENTILITY WILL KEYNOTE NEW SPRING STYLES

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

An easy, gentle look distinguishes spring fashions, as previewed by New York designers.

There's no straining of effect, no exaggerated lines, no unnatural contortions of waistline or bustline. Instead the new clothes for spring fit easily and loosely, permitting freedom of movement and comfortable poise.

It often has been said that no woman can look pretty if she is uncomfortable in her clothes, and this year fashion designers agree. So skirts, while slim, have room enough for walking and jackets, while slender have no nipped waists or built-up busts. The way to look smart this spring, it seems, is to look natural and at ease.

Slender Skirts
Skirts are almost uniformly slender in line, with brief jackets and skirts that give freedom of movement by means of panels, peg-tops or tunics. The bolero, the box jacket, the blouse-back jacket and the cape are all in the picture.

Dresses for street wear usually have slim lines also, but for afternoon and party wear there are plenty of full-skirts — not the exaggerated kind that require layers of crinolines, but softly gathered or flared skirts that are easy and flattering to the wearer.

Dress-and-jacket costumes continue as the favorite of American women, while ensembles of full-length coat or cape and coordinated dress also are important.

Fabrics are feather-weight, often draped always soft and sometimes floating. Colors are lighter in tone, with many tender pastels in the spring lineup.

It's a season for the gentle woman.

Woman's Prerogative To Turn Car Over

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Officers Sam Aday and C. M. Watson were rather startled when they investigated an upside down car at an intersection. A woman crawled out and began pointing her finger at them.

"I was driving the car," she said indignantly. "This is my automobile, and it is my prerogative to turn it over where and when I pleased."

She was jailed on a charge of drunkenness.

Try Revival Of Paddle Wheelers

CONWAY, S. C. (AP) — It has been many years since paddle wheelers have plied South Carolina rivers, but the old form of transportation is being revived here by W. H. Reed and Roscoe Gore. The men are building a 26-foot boat that will draw only 12 inches of water for ready navigation of shallow rivers. An unusual feature is two stern paddle wheels, which can be operated independently for steering.

Hotels And Motels Help Each Other

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hotels and motels apparently can get along with each other, after all.

At least that's the impression given by several delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Hotel Assn. here.

"If you mentioned motels at a hotel convention five years ago you would have been thrown out," one hotel man said. "But there's an excellent relationship between us today. When the motels are full they've been sending us their business, and vice versa. We accept calls from all neighboring motels and they accept ours."

LOST HIS BUCKS

MCALISTER, Okla. (AP) — Robert Stevenson, a deer hunter from Shawnee, Okla., was red faced because he forgot his red shirt. Gage Ranger Marion Geter arrested Stevenson for being without the Oklahoma required hunting color. He was fined $10.

CHICAGO (AP) — Tears she had shed seven years as a public defender prompted Katherine Nobelly, appearing for the first time as Women's Court Judge, to place a box of tissues on the bench for just such emergencies.

DAIRY DAY IS OBSERVED HERE

Adams county farmers were given "a look inside the cow" Friday at the annual Dairy Day program held by the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association at the Adams Electric Cooperative building, rear of N. Stratton St.

Richard Adams, Pennsylvania State University specialist, gave the presentation on the "inside of the cow" to explain to the dairy farmers the process by which the cow converts feed into milk.

Feeding of dairy herds was outlined with various types of rations explained. The specialist urged farmers to "keep your ration simple" and urged increased use of home-grown grains and pasture and use of "only a minimum of high powered supplements."

Joseph McCurdy, agricultural engineer from Pennsylvania State University, spoke on barn ventilation and drying hay by use of heat. Heat-cured hay is economically justified "only if you can cure 200 tons or more hay per year," he said.

Observing that there are "many excellent fans on the market," McCurdy told the group: "Ventilation of the barn is an individual problem. Each barn is different, and the fan chosen should be one that can do the job for your barn. You must study the problem in your barn, and then install a fan or fans accordingly."

Ban Washing Of Autos In City

BERLIN, Conn. (AP) — Police today banned the practice of washing automobiles in brooks in outlying sections of this city.

The practice was started some time ago when car washing was curtailed because of a water shortage in nearby New Britain.

In addition to polluting the streams, police say, the brook-side car washers are cluttering the stream banks with unsightly debris.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An estimated 4½ million tourists visited So.thern California during 1955-56. This was 288,000 more than 1954-55, said the California Recreation Commission.

The following editorial appears in the current issue of "Service," official publication of Cities Service, under the heading "When Free Men Stand United." It was written by W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board.

"We live in an era of accelerated progress, an era of opportunities so numerous and inviting that, wanting to lose none of them, we are moved to faster and faster action. A few weeks ago the nation thrilled to the excitement of a national election . . . then came the rush of holidays . . . and already the pages are turned on the tumult and the shouting of 1956 as we write in hurried script the assignments of another year."

"There is so much to be done. We need more schools, more homes. Industrial capacities must be multiplied . . . highways extended and improved . . . natural resources utilized to greater benefit. The soil of our farms must be conserved, enriched by chemicals, and nourished by irrigation. The facilities of transport and communications must be enlarged and improved. The work of science, so important to future progress, must be further endowed, additionally funded, and urgently promoted in every area of its service."

"Somehow — and it is growing more difficult to do so — the capital for all these jobs must be raised, the needed skill and manpower recruited and strategically assigned. These things must be done with maximum speed if the program before us is to be accomplished."

"Cumulatively, this program calls for attainments which only a few years ago would have been regarded as mere wishful thinking. Today we can hope to convert the ambitious blueprints of thousands of progressive enterprises into the realities of a better life for all of us, with a richer heritage for our children. We can do it because, here in America, we have never surrendered our traditional freedom to initiate, to risk where needed, to compete for public acceptance, and to win a reward measured to the job we have done."

"Last year the world observed a division of the people of the United States as they expressed, in political platforms, in campaign utterances, and in the votes of Election Day, their varying opinions on a multitude of issues, international, national regional and local. This year the world will see the other side of the coin. Our cities have been closed. We will stand together to assist our chosen leaders in the tasks we have delegated to them. We will work together to build a stronger, more prosperous nation, with benefits to be shared by all."

"This has always been the American way."

NEW FASHIONS IN PARIS GIVE NICE CONTRAST

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP) — Spring fashions have come to Paris, a city shrouded in rain and cold and slowed by fuel shortages. All we can say of the first showing is that the light suits and dresses offered a right pretty contrast.

The first show was by Gabrielle Chanel, who designed dresses for some of your mothers and still wields a chic pencil and scissors. After seeing perhaps 30 numbers — we lost count — we would say:

Models Sort Of Tall
The models are sort of tall — about 5 feet 9 inches with their 3-inch-heeled shoes. The dresses reach 5 or 6 inches below the knee and stay about 16 or 17 inches above the ground — including the heels.

Most of the jackets were short. Some were boleros, those little ones which don't quite come together in front and don't always reach the belt line.

Our idea was that the prettiest thing shown was a suit of white brocade with bleached gold designs. Almost tubular in design, the skirt was attached to a black silk waist. The jacket was lined with the same black silk which ran up over the edge of the collar — facing, the experts call it. Edges of the jacket were trimmed with black with a bright gold stripe.

Wedding

Gilland-Plank

Miss Miriam Louise Plank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Plank, R. 3, became the bride of Kenneth Lee Gilland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Gilland, last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Bethel Church of God, Germantown, Md. It was announced today. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clarence McGaha. Mrs. Mary Lee Cline played wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length wedding gown of net over satin and carried white carnations centered with a lavender orchid. Miss Mary Gilland, Waynesboro R. 4, the maid of honor, wore a pink ballerina-length gown of net over satin and carried white carnations centered with an orchid.

Harold J. Plank, Gettysburg R. 3, brother of the bride, was the best man. Ushers were Raymond Gilland, Greenstone, Pa., cousin of the bridegroom, and Eugene Cline, Charman.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with blue accessories and the mother of the bridegroom appeared in a blue print dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of red and white roses.

A reception was held in the church social room. The newlyweds are residing at the bridegroom's parents' home. Mrs. Gilland attended Gettysburg High School. Her husband, who attended Waynesboro High School, is employed by the Gettysburg Shoe Company.

He pasted the sticker — countersigned by the police chief — on the rear window of his car as instructed and within 48 hours had received three tickets for over-parking.

"I can't afford all this free parking," he complained. And red-faced police excused the tickets.

The FBI Story — by Don Whitehead

CHAPTER 18

Solving the Micro-Dot Puzzle

Ninety-one persons were convicted of spying against the United States from 1938 to 1945. And the shame of it was that 64 of them were American citizens betraying their own country.

The greater number worked for the Hitler government because of loyalty to Germany. A few others were mere adventurers. A few were recruited by threats of death or injury to loved ones held by the Nazis. A few became enemy agents because they saw a way to easy money.

The Nazis tried desperately to establish an espionage and sabotage apparatus in the United States to equal the spy ring organized before World War I. But this time the FBI was alert to the threat.

One enemy agent was caught with a box of ordinary-looking safety matches. Most of the matches were just that, but four of them turned out to be tiny pencils which wrote invisibly. Messages were sealed into fountain pens whose barrels had to be broken to extract the note. Codes were concealed in books and magazines by minute pin pricks through certain letters.

Cleverest Weapon
But one of the FBI's most exciting achievements was in uncovering the Nazi secret of the micro-dots, perhaps the cleverest espionage weapon of World War II.

Early in 1940 the FBI received a tip from a double agent that the Germans were developing a new method for slipping information from Allied countries.

The agent said the method had something to do with a new photographic process in which full-page messages would be transmitted on dots no bigger than the head of a pin. In fact he had been shown one under a microscope at espionage school and told to watch for these dots in the messages he would receive. But he could give no further information.

Tiny Black Dots
Then a young Balkan arrived in New York City from South America. He checked into his hotel and didn't appear surprised when he found two FBI agents waiting in his room. Even though recruited by the Germans as an espionage agent, it can now be revealed that he was working for the FBI.

"Did you bring them?" an agent asked.
The young man pulled from his pocket four blank telegraph messages. The papers were sent to the FBI Laboratory in Washington and under a fluorescent lamp a laboratory technician saw tiny black dots embedded in the paper. He pried one of them loose; it was a dot no bigger than the period at the end of this sentence.

Under a microscope that enlarged the tiny object 200 times, the technician saw a full-page message reproduced. He pried other 'periods' loose from the papers and found all of them were messages reduced to midsize.

This was the secret of the dots, a triumph in photography.

ND98 Reneges
Discovery of the micro-dot secret opened a door through which the FBI got onto the trail of espionage agents and their confederates, a trail that led through the United States and South America, and helped the FBI break up a German espionage ring in Mexico in cooperation with the Mexican government.

One of the most successful double agents developed by the FBI had the code name of ND98. He was operating an import-export business in Germany when he was recruited for espionage by the Nazis. Like the others, he was schooled in secret writing, telegraphy and codes, and given instructions reproduced on the easily hidden microphotographs.

MIDDLE (OF) DECEMBER AIRPLANE PARTS AND MACHINERY FROM DOUGLAS AND LOCKHEED IN NEW ORLEANS AND GALVESTON ARE TO BE SHIPPED FOR CASABLANCA AND RABAT. THE NAMED FIRMS INTEND TO BUILD THERE ONE ASSEMBLY PLANT EACH IN ORDER TO TAKE UP LATER TOTAL PRODUCTION BY MAKING USE OF AFRICA'S RAW MATERIALS. THE SHIPMENT WILL TAKE PLACE ON FORMER DELTA LINERS. THREE HUNDRED TECHNICIANS OF EACH FIRM ARE GOING ALONG. THE SHIPS WILL BE ATTACHED TO CONVOY. TECHNICAL VANGUARD HAS ALREADY DEPARTED BY WAY OF PAN-AMERICAN AIRLINES. (I) REPEAT THE NAMES: NEW ORLEANS, GALVESTON, DOUGLAS, LOCKHEED, CASABLANCA, RABAT.

One of top accomplishments of FBI's wartime spy drive was solving mystery of micro-dots. German camera reduced message (top) to dot (below) in series of photos. FBI secretary examines camera (right).

One day in 1941, a Nazi official told him:
"You will go to Uruguay . . . Here are your papers and instructions."

ND98 had a pleasant voyage to Montevideo. But once he was certain that he wasn't being watched, he met a U.S. State Department official. ND98 was willing to sell his services. Was the United States interested?

Expensive Data
A few days later ND98 advised his Nazi bosses:
"Impossible to establish radio station and obtain information desired. Am going to United States where I will be able to operate more freely."

In New York City, he was taken in tow by the FBI.
Under FBI guidance, ND98 made radio contact with Germany from a secluded Long Island radio station similar to the one the FBI had set up for double agent William Seboid. The Nazis asked for information as quickly as possible on aircraft, ship and arms production and troop and cargo movements, and for any reports on new weapons.

In August of 1943, the Hamburg station was grumbling that while ND98's information was good, it was certainly expensive. By this time the Nazis had paid him approximately $34,000, which was turned over to the Alien Property Custodian.

ND98 replied: "Sorry you regard information as too expensive. If not satisfactory, will be glad to withdraw as strain and danger are great." The Nazis hurriedly assured ND98 that not only was his work satisfactory but he would receive another $20,000 in due time.

One Last Hoax
Among the final hoaxes played on the Nazis were a series of messages sent just before the Allied invasion of Normandy on June 6, 1944. The Germans were told that invasion plans had been delayed by a breakdown in the production of invasion boats and that troops had sailed from New York for the Mediterranean.

Thus ND98 added to the confusion of reports fed to the Germans on the Allied invasion plans.

The first Long Island radio installation was established on Dec. 4, 1947, and until the final radio contact with Germany was received on May 8, 1945, a total of 2,829 messages were transmitted to Germany in connection with the several double agent cases involving these installations. The Germans sent 824 messages.

The Nazis sent money, diamond rings, diamonds, expensive watches and other valuables to the United States to finance their espionage. The wife of one agent tried to smuggle in $10,000 hidden in her girdle. A seaman courier hid a large bill in his bridge-work. Final accounting showed that $366,125 in cash and valuables had been seized from German intelligence agents and turned over to the Treasury Department.

The American Legion's 1957 "Back to God" telecast will be viewed over the CBS-TV network from 2 to 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, February 3, coinciding with the anniversary of the sinking of the USS Dorchester on February 3, 1943. The telecast will dramatize the epic of World War II, featuring the four chaplains who gave their lives to four American soldiers and who went down with the sinking of the transport. It was suggested that an announcement be made in all local churches concerning the telecast and that Legionnaires organize their own TV parties so that as many as possible will view this legion-sponsored religious emphasis program. The program also coincides with the proclamation issued by Governor George M. Leader, setting aside the week of February 3 as Religious Emphasis Week in the Commonwealth.

The post tabled communications from the Infantile Paralysis Fund and the Boy Scouts. Reports were heard from Paul E. Althoff, adjutant, and Earl L. Stites, finance officer. The Legionnaires will meet again on Thursday, February 14, at 8 p.m.

All those participating in the minstrel show to be presented by the Legion Post on March 4 and 5 will have rehearsal each Sunday afternoon and Thursday evening at the post home.

YOUNGSTERS OF

In Adams County the greatest satisfaction has been in being able to help some of the youngsters. In one instance I think it was God's way that one youngster got into trouble. It wasn't bad trouble, but he came before the juvenile court. It was found that he was suffering from a disease that was slowly deforming him. We were able to send him to Elizabethtown Children's Hospital and after several years he is now straight and strong."

The question of a curfew brought disagreement on its effectiveness unless it was county-wide and the public supported it.

Chief of Police Jack Bartlett, and Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz, agreed that generally parents were responsible for children "getting into trouble." Both observed that children were inclined to "behave about as their parents want them to behave. If there is no parental supervision, if the parents don't care, youngsters can get into trouble."

The possibility of establishment of a marriage counseling service in the county, "to help sick homes" was suggested. District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, moderator, said: "Where can people go if they are having family troubles. There are many good pastors, and basically they can give the most help, but some people have no church connections. They can talk it over with the assistance department visitors, or the police, or even my office. But I think if some special marriage counseling service could be set up, a place where people knew they could go to get help, there would be happier homes and thus fewer children getting into trouble."

The question of "going steady" in junior high school was said by the panel to be part of "the overall problem of children in a delinquent society." Some said that the practice came about "because in a sense it gives youngsters a feeling of security which they are not getting from their homes. It is a symptom of the times. It leads to grave problems, but the solution lies in creating a less materialistic society, in creating an atmosphere where homes and morals would be better."

COURT PONDERS

Littlestown R. 1, was continued generally.

B. Thomas Henry, Hanover, was permitted to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian and was fined $10 and told to pay the costs. Henry said he had brought the matter to court because "I never heard of such a charge."

Other Cases Before Court
Bartine Coady, Chambersburg St., a college student, was directed to pay $25 per week for the support of his wife and two children. He told the court he was willing to pay support and that his wife and children had left him.

The support case against 19-year-old Donald R. Fetters Sr., 125 Hanover St., was continued generally. His 19-year-old wife told the court she wanted no support for herself and that Fetters' family is feeding and clothing the child. She said what she wanted was to take the child from her parents-in-law's home, get support for the youngsters and obtain an apartment to keep him while she continued work. The court told her the matter of who kept the child was not before it in a non-support case.

Kervin A. Sanders, Gettysburg R. 2, was directed to pay $20 per week for the support of his wife and child following a non-support hearing.

The desertion and non-support case against Kenneth L. Steick, Hanover, was dismissed.

Appeals To Court For Military Leave

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Police-man Walter Hoffines Jr., who re-joined the Air Force and sought court aid for a military leave of absence, says President Eisenhower's inaugural address and Middle East program show that "contemplated war" exists.

The former bomber pilot, 36, yesterday cited this sentence in the inaugural address: "rarely has this earth known such peril as today."

That and the request for standby military authority, Hoffines said, substantiate the "contemplated war" phrase in his petition to Dauphin County court.

An official leave would allow him to continue to accrue state pension. The leave was denied on the basis of a 1953 regulation. The court has yet to act.

Hubbell Leads 4 Picked For Hall Of Fame: New York Jan. 22 (AP) —

Today's Talk

CERVANTES
One of the great, living books of all time is that one by the Spanish writer Cervantes — "Don Quixote." It is filled with expressions that have come to be a part of our own literature. It is spiced with phrases so familiar to us all, like the raisins in mother's pies and cakes!

I quote a few: "Without a wink of sleep, Murder will out. Every dog has his day. The main chance. Let us leap out of the frying-pan into the fire. A finger in the pie. Why do you lead me a wild-goose chase? Raise a hue and cry. A peck of troubles. One swallow never makes a summer. There's not the least thing can be said or done, but people will talk and find fault. As sure as I'm alive. Make hay while the sun shines. A bird in hand is worth two in the bush."

I bought my first four-volume set of "Don Quixote" forty years ago and immediately read it. I have dipped into it again and again. It is a fine translation from the original. There are few modern novels so intriguing and interesting as this great classic. It will pay anyone to read this book for it is beautifully written. One commentator has said that "humor and sardony are its unsurpassed."

The adventures by Don Quixote and Sancho Panza are most amusing. Cervantes died in 1616. He was quite a warrior in his day and lost the use of his left hand in war. I believe he also wrote much of this book in jail. Apparently he took great pleasure in working on the book, desirous as he was that it should accomplish its purpose. I have discovered no dull pages in it.

KNOWLEDGE
Swiftly twelve brief months go by,
Punctually clocks will chime,
All the passing days supply
For the worker is the time.Strength and skill they won't provide.
Books may fill a near-by shelf,
But the wisdom stored inside
Man must gather for himself.This is plain from day to day,
Ownership alone is vain.
If unread the volumes stay,
Man will ignorant remain.Never all things mortals know,
Seldom easily attained
Can be, all they want to know;
There's more wisdom to be gained.

International Museums Week was hailed with three new stamps by Poland. The 40 g green shows a statue of Niobe, the 60 g lilac brown bears the statue of Madonna of Weitz-Stoss Altar of St. Marys at Cracow, and the 1.55 zloty brown illustrates a Vinci's painting of "Lady with Weasel."

Two semi-postals have been issued by France for the benefit of the French Red Cross. Depicted on each semi-postal is a famous painting now in the Louvre. The 12 franc plus 3 brown black shows the "Young Peasant" by Louis Le Nain. The 15 fr plus 5 red has the portrait of the clown Gilles by Watteau. The additional values go to the Red Cross.

The plan tentatively calls for a commission of from 3 to 5 members with powers to fix tolls and manage the Turnpike's fiscal affairs.

Garage's Mistake Nets Free Repairs

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Guerrieri left her car in a parking lot next to a hospital. A patient in the hospital, who had a car in the lot almost like Mrs. Guerrieri's, chose this time to phone a garage and arrange for a repair job.

The garage picked up Mrs. Guerrieri's car.

While police were following up her car theft report, the car was getting a motor overhaul, fender repairs, new mirrors and a polish job.

Then the garage returned it to the parking lot.

The reconditioning job didn't cost Mrs. Guerrieri a cent.

GOVERNOR MAY APPOINT GOP TO TURNPIKE POST

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader was reported Friday to be considering the appointment of a Republican to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

An administration source, who declined quotation by name, said such a move was under discussion because any choice for the $13,000 a year job must be confirmed by the Republican-controlled Senate.

"The decision isn't final," the source said. "The governor wants the highest type of person possible. If he can't settle on a Democrat, he could conceivably choose a Republican."

Leader said he would submit the name of his choice to the Senate Monday, anticipating the voluntary or involuntary suspensions of Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh, and James F. Torrance, Export.

May Discharge Two
The governor gave the two until tonight to take leave of absence without pay or face suspension. Both have been indicted by a Dauphin County grand jury for misconduct in office.

Torrance has declined comment and McSorley has been unavailable.

The charge against McSorley involves permitting a chauffeur for former chairman Thomas J. Evans, Co. Idale, to remain on the commission payroll after Evans had left.

Torrance and Evans were indicted for conspiring to defraud the commission of 19½ million dollars in contracts with Mann-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading.

Death Created Vacancy
Without McSorley and Torrance, the commission would be left with two members—James F. Byrne, Philadelphia Democrat, and highways secretary Joseph J. Lawler.

The vacancy Leader wants to fill is that created by the death of David E. Watson, Philadelphia Republican. Watson had returned to the commission last June after the State Supreme Court ruled he could not be fired by the governor.

Three members are needed to conduct commission business. If McSorley and Torrance step aside, Senate Republicans will have the responsibility for seeing that the commission functions.

Meanwhile, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, approached with some favor the governor's plan to replace the present commission with a non-salaried agency.

"For economy reasons alone it might be a good idea to do so," Johnson told a newsman. "I'd like to look at it a little more closely before I make up my mind finally."

The plan tentatively calls for a commission of from 3 to 5 members with powers to fix tolls and manage the Turnpike's fiscal affairs.

Polio Victim Takes Life; Wills Savings

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A high school boy, handicapped by polio for 11 years, apparently killed himself after willing to the March of Dimes all his savings and any money which might be spent for flowers at his funeral.

The body of 14-year-old David Putnam was found by his father in the bathtub of the family home Thursday night. A .22 pistol lay nearby and the youth had a bullet wound in his right temple.

A note to his father, an elementary school principal, outlined the March of Dimes request and was signed: "With love, David." The youth, whose left arm had been paralyzed since he was 3 years old, had saved $100 towards the purchase of a car.

Alert Officer Aids Screaming Wife

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Patrolman Charles Tarrance is a man who knows what to do when a woman screams.

The off-duty officer was standing on a street corner last night when he heard a woman scream and saw a man running. Tarrance ran right by the woman—who happened to be his wife—and captured the man with a flying tackle.

Sydney Massie, 29, still was clinging to the purse which patrolman Tarrance said he had snatched from his wife. He was jailed on a robbery charge.

Stolen Hooch Is Sold At Cut Rates

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)—Three juveniles were arrested yesterday selling stolen booze to other juveniles at sharply reduced prices. Good grade Scotch was going for $3 a fifth and gin at 75 cents a pint. The liquor was stolen from New Mexico Selling Co. here during a break-in. No charges were filed pending action by juvenile authorities.

Warriors Victims Of 85-65 Lacing At Hanover; Scrubs Bow; Carlisle Here Tuesday

Bobby Hess had his best night and connected for 26 points and Earl Little 18 but their efforts were not enough for the Gettysburg High cagers who suffered a 85-65 drubbing Friday night in a South Penn League game at Hanover.

All five starters for the veteran Hanover aggregation broke into double figures in scoring as the Night Hawks kept alive their chances for a tie for first half honors in the league.

The Nighthawks, using an all-court press, tallied the first eight points of the game and were never in trouble thereafter. A pair of goals by Bob Forry and one each by Ray Cromer and Larry Little got Hanover off to its fast start. Hess netted the first of his dozen goals on a jump shot from the side for the Warriors' first points. Hanover used a well-balanced attack in rolling up 19-9 lead at the quarter as Gettysburg's remaining points came on a goal and foul by Jon Wagnild plus goals by Hess and Little.

Hawks Fly Ahead
Wagnild's two foul conversions and Little's jump shot opened the second period but midway in the period the Hawks rocketed their lead to 33-17. Returning to their full-court press employed in the first quarter the Hawks set a blistering pace to roll up a 51-28 half time margin. Tom Kitzmiller, Little, Hess and Dick Pyle contributed the Warrior points during the latter part of the period.

Carl Klinedinst, Forry and Bill Poist netted quick goals for the Hawks to open the third period. After Hanover built up a 69-42 margin within six minutes before a new Hawk team came on the floor. The Warriors seized the opportunity with five straight points on goals by Hess and Kitzmiller and a foul by Little as the period ended 71-47. Hanover's varsity returned for the first three minutes of the final stanza and when the second stringer came on again it was 79-57. A short time later Coach George Forney poured reserves in from his bench and the subs finished the game for both schools.

Forry and Klinedinst topped the Nighthawk scoring with 19 and 18 points, respectively.

Jayvees Outclassed
The Gettysburg reserves trailed all the way in losing the preliminary 51-29. At half time Hanover held a commanding 25-9 lead. Lockbaum led Gettysburg with eight points while three lads broke into double figures for the winners.

Carlisle, who assured themselves of at least a tie for first half honors by downing Mechanicsburg 69-57, comes here Tuesday evening and can clinch honors with a win over the Warriors.

The Bubblers were led by Dean and Dale Vaughn who were good for 28 and 13 points, respectively. Bill Haverstick rimmed 15 for the Indians.

Biglerville took sole possession of second-place to remain one game back of Boiling Springs by defeating invading Littlestown 49-37. After grabbing a 14-8 lead in the opening period the Cannons never trailed as they knocked the Bolts out of a second-place tie. Jimmy Smallwood and Don Bowers topped the Cannon assault with 16 and 12 tallies. Ken Koontz carried the brunt of Littlestown's attack with 12.

Fairfield went down to its seventh straight league setback at Big Spring 49-32. The losers were held to only six goals but remained in contention by converting 20 of 42 foul tries. At half time Big Spring led 24-18. Frank Oiler was top man of the evening with 18 points. Jimmy Musselman topped the losers with nine.

York Springs moved into a triple tie for fifth place with a hard fought 46-43 win at New Oxford. Hanover Junior High's cagers proved too much for Gettysburg here Friday evening as the Falcons swept a pair of South Penn League games.

The Falcon varsity romped to a 36-11 decision, wrapping up the outcome in the third period when they outscored the Braves 14-0.

Superior height and a 2-1-2 zone defense was largely responsible for the visitors' one-sided victory.

Gettysburg was limited to four goals, two of which were landed by Terry Hise, none Hanover lads broke into the scoring column.

The local junior varsity lost its first game in four starts in the preliminary 33-19. At half time the scrubs trailed only 11-9 but were outplayed throughout the remaining two frames.

Next Friday evening the Braves will meet Delone here in a non-conference twin bill.

BUILDING AND FARM

Cleanliness Can Increase Number Of Pigs Weaned Per Sow, County Agent States

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

A clean sow and clean farrowing pen can greatly influence the number of pigs weaned in your sow herd. At least eight pigs must be weaned to realize a profit on a sow and this goal cannot be reached if sanitary conditions do not exist.

After the pen has been cleaned and all litter and dirt has been removed, use a solution of hot water and lye to scrub down. A solution of one pound of lye to 30 gallons of scalding water will give good results. Follow up with a disinfectant to reach all spots not reached by the water and lye. Scrub the walls to a height of two or three feet.

When the sow is to be moved to the farrowing stall or pen, clean her thoroughly before she goes into the farrowing house. She can be scrubbed with a stiff brush over the back sides, and with a cloth or softer brush along the underline. Use warm soapy water to remove any dirt or mud that might carry worm eggs or disease to the new born pigs.

If sows or gilts farrow early enough so cold weather could harm the pigs, use a heat lamp in the farrowing pen.

January. Molasses prices have skyrocketed in most sections. Farmers must use molasses wisely in their feeding program. Whenever prices rise much above three cents per pound use molasses only when extremely necessary. Although molasses is by no means a necessary ingredient in dairy cattle feeds, it is used extensively to increase palatability and improve the physical characteristics of the feeds.

As little as 80-100 pounds of molasses per ton will usually increase the palatability of most grain mixtures.

In fact, most grain mixtures containing corn, oats and a protein supplement are sufficiently palatable to dairy cattle without added molasses.

Because of the extremely wet summer, some dairymen will find it necessary to use molasses on low quality roughage to encourage its consumption, and increase the nutrient intake. However, molasses can be diluted with as much as two parts of warm water for use in this manner. It is expected that the exceptionally high molasses prices will persist at least through Farmers' "Income Tax Guides" are now available for farmers at the County Farm Agent's office and at district offices of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

This guide will aid most farmers in answering many questions in filing the 1936 income tax forms: how to file, deductible items, methods of figuring depreciation, etc.

Every farmer in the United States whose gross income was $600 or more for the past year must file a return. The only exception is for the person over 65 years of age; his gross income should be $1,200 or more.

However, a farmer is entitled to benefits under the Social Security System, if his income is less than $400, under certain circumstances, he may elect to pay the self-employment tax and come under the Social Security System, if he files his return on the cash basis. The farmers' Tax Guide will explain this in detail.

Those with incomes of less than $400 may take one of the alternatives under the Social Security Act: file a Schedule 1040F (or Schedule C) and form 1040, and pay the self-employment tax, even though no tax is paid.

Complete and accurate records of income and expenses, dates, names, Social Security numbers, etc., are needed so credit in the Social Security System is not lost.

Some taxpayers prefer to use the services of a professional tax practitioner rather than rely on their own judgment, but it is your duty to file a tax return, so regardless of the assistance obtained, you must assume full responsibility for the accuracy and completeness of the figures included in the income tax form.

Keep Poinsettia — If you got a poinsettia for Christmas, you can keep it for some time after the holiday, says A. O. Rasmussen, Penn State extension ornamental horticulturist. Poinsettias like the morning sunshine and night temperatures of 55-60 degrees but eventually the leaves will drop off.

For Beef Profits — Profit from a beef herd depends on three factors, explains Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist. They are low feed and labor cost,

CEILING PAINTING

DO . . . when redecorating a room, always paint the ceiling before the walls and woodwork, otherwise you'll have to take extra precautions to keep from spoiling the work you've already done.

DO . . . paint across the width of a room rather than the length, which enables you to move from wall to wall and back again to start the next strip before the paint begins to set.

DO . . . when using a brush, dip it in only about an inch or 2, flowing it on with just enough pressure so that the paint spreads uniformly; when using a roller, be certain it is not overloaded and move it along in even strokes.

DO . . . remove as much furniture from the room as possible, especially lamps and other things which can be knocked over, and cover everything else with drop cloths to keep them from getting spattered.

DON'T . . . forget that, while a little paint occasionally may drip down the handle of the brush, too much dripping means you have thinned the paint too much . . . or you are dipping the brush too deeply . . . or you are using too much pressure.

Get Soil Tested — Farmers are urged by Wayne Hinrich, Penn State extension agronomist, to get their soil tested early. Samples sent to the University Soil Testing Laboratory now can be handled promptly, with fertilizer recommendations made in about 10 days. Get a soil sample kit from your county agent.

An Expanding Economy — Economic activity will continue on a high level in 1937, according to William Carroll, Penn State extension agricultural economist. High employment, wages, and earnings will keep food consumption on a record level.

Thaw Pipes Carefully — If you do it yourself, the only safe way to thaw water pipes is with hot water poured on cloths or sacks wrapped around the pipes or with electric heat, reminds Henry Wooding, Penn State extension agricultural engineer.

Provide Cow Comfort — For satisfactory winter care, dairy cows need clean, healthful, comfortable, draft-free quarters, says Dexter Putnam, Penn State extension dairy specialist.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
The Associated Press

Three houses of special interest to every family planning on building a new home are scheduled to be opened for exhibit at Munster, Ind., near Chicago on Dec. 10. They have been built to demonstrate the major requirements laid down by the famous Women's Congress on Housing in Washington last April.

Sponsored by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn., these houses were designed with the assistance of Miss Annabelle Heath, originator of the Women's Congress idea. They have not been built for sale and will not be finally disposed of until some time next year after builders, manufacturers and the public have had time to study them.

They indicate the far reaching effect of the complete Women's Congress report, recently published by the Housing & Home Finance Agency. Of course, no one claims that they are the final word in popularity, but they include 59 of the basic features the 103 housewife delegates said they wanted in their homes.

Favor One Story

In accordance with the majority vote of that congress, the three Munster houses have three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, a family room in addition to living room, either a separate dining room or dining area, rear kitchen, generous closet space, and utility room or basement with laundry.

Although the 103 women overwhelmingly went on record as favoring a one-story house, one of the three models is a split level, containing 1,992 square feet in order to include a maximum of the housewives' preferences. The others are one-story homes, covering 1,418 and 1,623 square feet. One is a brick veneer house with a basement, another is built with trusses and Lu-Re-Co panels pre-assembled in the lumber yard.

Each of these models conforms to the women's ideas by having two separate zones — an informal living area in the rear where a family can work and relax in private, and a formal or public area in front on the street side.

In each, the bedrooms are isolated from the noisy part of the house, so that older children in the family room will not disturb youngsters sleeping, or parents reading in the living room.

Rooms are arranged so there will be a minimum of family traffic through the living room and dining room. The half-bath or lavatory is adjacent to the backdoor to make it easy to clean up before entering the house.

Plans Available

Plans for all of the houses are being made available through local lumber dealers. The architects were Edward Marks of Evanston, Ill., James Petridge of Palmdale, Calif., and Edwin Bruno of Skokie, Ill.

Miss Heath, who is assistant to Administrator Albert Cole of the Housing & Home Finance Agency in Washington, and Joseph H. Orendorff, technical advisor to HHFA, assisted the architects in interpreting the women's ideas.

Completion of the houses has been scheduled to coincide with the Building Products Exposition being held in Chicago by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn. Paul V. DeVille of Canton, Ohio, chairman of the organization's committee for this project, supervised construction which was carried out by the Lakeshore Realty Co., of Whiting, Ind.

Incidentally, copies of the 82-page report on the Women's Congress on Housing can now be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for 60 cents — not stamps.

Do's and Don'ts

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

FASTENING TO CONCRETE
DO . . . use cut or split nails for attaching wood to concrete, remembering that more of them must be used than other types of concrete fasteners.

DO . . . use expansion shields or anchors for high-strength fastenings to concrete, using carbide-tipped drills to make the holes.

DO . . . drill the holes of the same length and diameter as the shields or anchors in order to make as tight a fit as possible.

DO . . . consider the use of other types of masonry fasteners, including anchor nails welded to perforated metal squares, which are attached to the concrete with adhesive and eliminate the drilling of holes.

DON'T . . . hammer cut or split nails directly into concrete without first going through wood unless you want the nails to bend or fly out of your hands.

DON'T . . . forget that if you use a star drill (which is banded with a hammer) placing a piece of rubber around the shank will absorb some of the vibration.

DON'T . . . when using a power drill in concrete, relax your pressure at any time; if you want to stop a minute, remove the drill from the hole while it is still running at full speed.

DON'T . . . neglect to measure the size of the screw used in an expansion shield or anchor; it should be as long as the thickness of the material being fastened plus the depth of the hole minus one-eighth to one-quarter of an inch. (Not as difficult to figure out as it sounds.)

FIXING A DOORBELL

DO . . . when a doorbell fails to ring, check the pushbutton first — because that is where the trouble nearly always is.

DO . . . see that the two wires connected to the pushbutton are securely fastened to the terminal screws.

DO . . . if the wires are connected properly, touch both terminal screws at the same time with the blade of a screwdriver.

DO . . . know that something is wrong with the pushbutton if, during this screwdriver test, the bell rings; if it fails to ring, the trouble is with the source of supply (batteries or transformer), the bell or the wire.

DON'T . . . be afraid to work

ONE PHONE CALL COULD SAVE A CITY

around the pushbutton while the electricity is turned on, since the voltage needed to make a bell ring is so low as to be harmless.

DON'T . . . in any inspection of a transformer, touch the primary terminals, which are on the side of the transformer leading to the fuse box.

DON'T . . . forget that when bell wire needs replacing — and it runs through a wall or floor — attach the new wire to the old and pull it through.

DON'T . . . when the bell itself is at fault, neglect to look for loose connections or dirty contacts.

DON'T . . . paint a ceiling unless you have the time to do the whole job at once, since a restart is almost certain to leave some trace, even with the "nonlapping" paints now available.

DON'T . . . get yourself tangled up trying to paint your way around a ceiling fixture; taking the screws out of the fixture so that it can be lowered a little will make an easier and neater job.

DON'T . . . when using a roller, neglect the use of a small brush for use in corners and other tight spots.

DO . . . be certain in placing a hacksaw blade in the frame that the teeth point away from the handle.

DO . . . use blades with 14 or 18 teeth per inch for cutting hard metal of fairly thick stock, those with 24 and 32 teeth per inch for light tubing and sheet metal.

DO . . . always have the metal in the vise so that the line being cut is fairly close to the vise jaws — and always file a notch in the metal as a starting point.

DO . . . bear in mind that a hacksaw cuts only on the forward stroke, therefore release your pressure as you bring the blade back.

CAN'T BELIEVE HIS PARENTS ARE RUSSIAN SPIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Lawrence Sobie says he can't believe his mother and father were members of a Soviet spy ring operating in the United States.

The blond youth says he is "more than 100 per cent certain that my father and mother aren't spies."

The boy's father, Jack Sobie, 53, his mother, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam 64, all of New York City, were arrested by the FBI yesterday. They were charged with collecting information about the national defense for purposes of transmitting the information to the Soviet Union or its agents.

Hint Others Involved
The Sobie youngster, a senior at Rhodes Preparatory School in Manhattan, spoke freely about his parents.

"If they had any crooked dealings, I would have known about it," he said. "Spies... what are they saying on? What they saw in the street?"

The Sobies and Albam were held in $100,000 bail each as the FBI hinted others might be involved in the alleged spy ring.

Evidence On Officials
U. S. Attorney Paul Williams said the "upper members" of the alleged espionage group "are not at the present time identifiable."

In Washington, Sergei R. Striganov, Soviet counselor, was called to the State Department and reportedly confronted with evidence involving Soviet officials in the case.

In Montreal, Mrs. Hessel Chasen, sister of Jack Sobie, said the boy's parents "were a happy couple and they were very proud of being Americans." Sobie and Albam were born in Lithuania, Mrs. Sobie in Russia.

10-Year Record
The FBI said the Sobies entered the United States on visas issued in Kobe, Japan, in 1941 and became citizens in 1947. Their son was born in Lithuania.

The FBI accuses the Sobies and Albam of a conspiracy dating back to 1947, the year Albam entered the country. No details were made available by the FBI as to the nature of the espionage activities allegedly carried out by the three.

Albam filed for American citizenship in 1951, three years after marrying an American citizen. The Albams have no children.

Living Costs Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported yesterday that living costs hit an all-time high in December, with a total increase of nearly 3 per cent in consumer prices during 1956.

At the same time, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said average earnings of factory workers set a new record in December, providing increased buying power for this group.

LABOR LEADERS WILL BE GUESTS OF NAVY SOON

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Navy is outdoing itself this year for labor union leaders assembled at Miami Beach for their annual winter meeting.

In the past the Navy has brought in destroyers, mine sweepers and even submarines to Miami to take winter-conventioning union men for a day's ride over the sunny Atlantic waves.

But this time the Navy is putting on a production — an aircraft carrier with half a dozen destroyer escorts, together with helicopters manned by Marines to ferry the labor people out to sea.

This perhaps indicates a feeling by the Navy of the growing importance of organized labor on the American scene since the AFL-CIO merger.

But the Navy's explanation, in an official invitation to AFL-CIO leaders, is this:

"The annual cruise is part of the Navy's program to keep the nearly 15 million members of organized labor and their families informed of the mission and work of the Navy in the nation's defense."

arrange to be out of session to avoid inviting him to address it.

Customarily, when heads of foreign states visit Washington, Congress issues such speaking invitations to them.

But some leaders suggested today Congress might lengthen its customary Easter recess so it would be out of town

SENATE REVIEW OF MIDDLE EAST POLICY HINTED

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today he believes a Senate review of administration Middle East policy will follow congressional action on President Eisenhower's military-economic proposals for that area.

Fulbright conceded, in an interview, that he does not have sufficient votes to def. action on the Eisenhower resolution, now the subject of hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees.

"But I think the inquiry will be approved," he said.

Dulles Opposed
Fulbright said he would seek approval for the policy review Monday when the two committees meet in closed session to continue their questioning of Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles is opposed to any such review on grounds it would harm U. S. relations with the British and French.

Again and again, Dulles has urged the committees not to "bog down" consideration of the Middle East resolution with details that he said might "destroy its usefulness."

Sen. Aiken (R-T) said he would resist any effort to start a general policy study until after Congress acts on the resolution.

In Recess Today
"Whatever mistakes, if any, were made in the past shouldn't be allowed to delay action now supporting the President's request to counter any possible aggression by the Communists in a very dangerous situation," Aiken said.

The Senate hearing was in recess today, but the House Foreign Affairs Committee arranged to meet behind closed doors to try to finish work on its report on the Eisenhower resolution.

The House committee two days ago voted overwhelming approval of the resolution in just about the form the Eisenhower administration tion proposed it. House debate is expected to get under way next Tuesday.

Eisenhower has asked Congress for advance authority to use American troops to help any Middle East nation which asks such aid in repelling open Communist aggression. He also has requested authority to use up to 200 million dollars in available funds to bolster the defenses and economies of Middle East nations. This money would be spent by June 30. The administration wants to spend another 400 millions on military and economic aid to the area over the next two years.

SERVES IN HAWAII

Sgt. Robert H. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dyson F. Kennedy, Bendersville, is a member of the 25th Infantry Division in Hawaii. He entered the Army in July, 1952 and is a squad leader in Company L of the division's 35th Regiment.

2 OUSTED STATE EMPLOYEES MAY TURN TO COURT

HARRISBURG (AP) — The possibility of a court test developed today after Gov. Leader's suspension of Chairman G. Franklin McSorley and James F. Torrance from the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Leader, citing indictments against McSorley and Torrance by a Dauphin County Grand Jury, last night suspended them without pay, effective Wednesday. McSorley has been indicted for misconduct and Torrance for conspiracy.

"I intend to stay on the job as long as I can," Torrance said at his home in Export. "If it means a fight in the courts, I am ready to battle it out."

McSorley, who has not been available for comment at Pittsburgh, was reported to have reacted similarly.

May Appeal To Court

This indicated the two might go to court to challenge the governor's authority, asking in effect that a State Supreme Court decision against dismissals be extended to include suspensions. The decision was made last June in favor of David E. Watson, Philadelphia Republican who subsequently died and whose vacancy the governor must now fill. The commission will be without a quorum if the vacancy is not filled by Wednesday night.

The other commissioners are John F. Byrne, Philadelphia Democrat, and Joseph J. Lawler, secretary of highways. Leader said he would submit to the Senate for confirmation Monday his nominee for the Watson vacancy. To retain the quorum, the Republican-controlled upper House will be under pressure to act favorably upon the nomination.

The lack of a quorum could cause a technical default to bondholders. The governor is said to be considering the appointment of a Republican, both to secure immediate action from the Senate and to retain the commission as a bipartisan agency.

AIR-SEA SEARCH GOES ON FOR 3 MISSING FLIERS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An air-sea search force was ordered back to island-studded Caribbean waters south of Cuba today in quest of three fliers missing after a training-flight collision of B47 bombing planes.

Earlier rescue of three other bomber crewmen kept hope alive for finding Maj. William E. Norris 41, of Lansing, Mich.; Capt. James H. Parker, 35, of Fort Hill, S. C., and Lt. Earl Chrisawm Jr., 26, of Sumter, S. C.

The search planes and ships were augmented by a ground party organized to investigate reports of wreckage on Isle of Pines, off Cuba's western tip. Navy divers were to probe what looked like sunken wreckage near Islas de Mangres, near Isle of Pines.

Stories Withheld
It was on and around Islas de Mangres that Air Force Reserve fliers, based 325 miles northeast in Miami, rescued Maj. James M. McFarland Jr., 37, of Watsontown, Pa.; Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, of Paducah, Ky., and Lt. James E. Rose Jr., 28, of Dallas, Tex., yesterday.

McFarland, Lynn and Rose, hospitalized at Key West for shock, were interviewed by Air Force officials who are investigating the collision of the two stratofort bombers which were part of a group executing a mass refueling exercise over Isle of Pines Thursday night.

No information obtained from the rescued men was disclosed at once.

Countian Serves In Operation Ski-Jump

Seaman Gerald E. Cluck, R. 3, aboard the attack transport USS Bayfield, participated in "Operation Ski-Jump," the year's biggest Pacific naval training exercise which ended Friday.

More than 20,000 Navy men and 30,000 Marines took part in the 18-day maneuver, the sea phase of which ended with an amphibious assault landing at Camp Pendleton, Calif., January 17. Marine troops maneuvered ashore until Wednesday.

Warships added a realistic "softening-up" phase to the operation by shelling San Clemente Island. Carrier based planes, and planes of the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing based at El Toro and Mojave, Calif., provided air support and cover for the task force.

The exercise was based on a simulated situation in which southern California had been invaded and conquered by an aggressor nation.

DIPLOMATS BUSY PREPARING FOR CRUCIAL DEBATE

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U. N. diplomats moved today into a weekend of intense behind-the-scenes maneuvers in preparation for a crucial debate on the explosive Middle East dispute.

The debate is to start Monday in the 80-nation General Assembly. The key point will be Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's 3,500-word report on Israel's delay in pulling her invasion forces back of the 1949 Palestine armistice line.

Israeli sources said Hammarskjöld's report was not clear enough and declared it gave a legal approach to a political problem.

Has Not Complied
Hammarskjöld informed the Assembly yesterday Israel has not fully complied with five resolutions calling for withdrawal of its forces. He added that numerous political and legal barriers prevent the U. N. from accepting Israel's conditions for a complete pull back.

Israel still holds two areas seized in the October-November invasion, the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh sector on the Gulf of Aqaba. Israel insists it must have firm guarantees that its interests will be protected before quitting those areas. Sharm El Sheikh guards the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's link with the Red Sea. Prior to the recent invasion, Egyptian guns had kept Israeli shipping out of the area. The Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean was controlled by Egypt after the 1948 Palestine War. Israel repeatedly has charged it was used as a base for Arab commando raids into Israeli territory.

Called Constructive
Israel was said to feel that Hammarskjöld's report, harks back to the 1949 armistice, which Israel considers a failure and no solution to the problem.

The Israelis also were said to feel that the right of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba is not an armistice question, but one of preventing belligerency. Egyptian delegates declined to comment on the reports. Britain and the United States described the report as constructive.

T. Woodyard and M. L. McCurry reported that Rose cried, "Boy, am I glad to see you guys!" when he paddled a life raft to an amphibian plane which rescued him. Woodyard said his and McCurry's amphibians spotted the men after noticing mirror signals, an "SOS" trampled on a beach, and Rose waving his arms on a raft surrounded by a dye the downed flier had spread on the sea.

Woodyard and McCurry had circled the area much of Thursday night together with other aircraft searching for traces of B47 survivors.
